PREPARATORY COURSES:

The Preparatory International Baccalaureate Program provides 9th and 10th grade students challenging curriculum in preparation for the rigors of the IB Diploma Program. Students are involved in advanced coursework in mathematics, reading, science, social studies, art, and world languages.

IB DIPLOMA PROGRAM:

The International Baccalaureate Diploma Program is a challenging two-year curriculum for students in 11th and 12th grade. It leads to a qualification that is widely recognized by the world's leading universities.

The curriculum contains six subject groups together with a core made up of three separate parts. Students study six subjects selected from the subject groups. Normally three subjects are studied at higher level (240 teaching hours), and the remaining three subjects are studied at standard level (150 teaching hours).

All three parts of the core—extended essay, theory of knowledge and creativity, action, service—are compulsory and are central to the philosophy of the Diploma Program.

At the end of the two-year program, students are assessed both internally and externally by evaluators worldwide in ways that measure individual performance against stated objectives for each subject.

BEYOND IB

IB is widely recognized by the world's leading universities. IB works closely with universities in all regions of the world to gain recognition for the IB diploma. To aid this process, university admissions officers and government officials have direct online access to all syllabuses and recent examinations. To assist IB diploma students in making appropriate choices, the organization holds a database containing contact detail of universities around the world together with up-to-date information about their requirements for admission.

"The tangible reward of getting the IB diploma was something to strive for, but...[f]the IB programme did us all good through less tangible, more abstract ways...It wasn't just an education of the mind, but also an education and deepening of the soul."
